

Crossing No Man's Land – Why the Way We Lead Prevents Our Companies from Getting from Where We Are to Where We Want to Be Presented by:

DAN WOOLDRIDGE

- Strategic Leadership Advisor for APi Group,
- Serves as an advisor, mentor, and coach to the Group executive team as well as the individual company executive teams on leadership, strategy, organizational, and cultural challenges.
- His role encompasses not only current challenges but also the identification of future challenges to the company while simultaneously assessing, mentoring, and developing current and future leaders.
- Oversees internal think tanks that are studying the accelerated development of field leadership, how to become a talent magnet and a great place to work, and how to develop a culture and disciplined system of innovation.
- Involved in the succession and development of future executive talent throughout all the companies.
- Involved in designing the executive and emerging leader education programs within the company.
- Recently partnered with FMI Corporation to develop a Field Leadership Institute and has designed and implemented The Gettysburg Leadership Experience for APi Group leaders.
- Dan was a senior consultant and thought leader within the acclaimed Leadership practice of FMI, the leading management consulting company to the construction industry.
- Outside of construction, Dan has been a leadership advisor to a broad range of companies from financial services entities to manufacturing, legal services, high tech, media, hospitality, sales and marketing, and the non-profit sector.

AMERICAN
SUBCONTRACTORS
ASSOCIATION of Utah

WHEN

Tues., June 12, 2018
2:00 – 4:00 p.m.

WHERE

Scheels

11282 South State Street, Sandy

REGISTRATION FEE

$15

RSVP

801.566.1097

or

www.subcontractorsutah.com

SPONSORED BY:

